Using paper tags (cardstock) from the craft store and snippets of an old cutter quilt you can make adorable tags that work for gifts as well as place-markers. Feel free to use an old needle since this will kill your needle but is totally safe for any sewing machine.

- 1) Based on the the size of your tags cut snippets of quilt to fit within the area. Don't be afraid to use the smallest scraps!
- 2) Hold the snippets in place with your finger or a small dot of double sided tape in the MIDDLE of the snippet.
- 3)Set your machine to a slightly wide and spaced out zig-zag stitch and go around the snippet. Trim threads.
- 4)Add a tie!
- 5) Now make another, and another! You are BadAss!
